Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn. Claims 1-46 remain pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jong et al (US 6,192,403) in view of Malik (US 6,618,370 B1).

Jong discloses a method of operating a computerized system to provide computer recommendation information for a plurality of computers, including the steps of generating an operation profile for a computer using machine information specific to the computer (col. 11, line 64 to col. 12, line 6), wherein the operation profile indicates at least a usage trend for the computer and generating a recommendation for at least one computer system solution which satisfies at least the projected requirements (col. 12, line 63 to col. 13, line 7). Jong further discloses the steps of generating the operation profile, receiving the machine information from the computer via a network connection (col. 2, lines 41-48), and Jong's system performance can be collected at intervals shorter than the first timed intervals as claimed. a system wherein the plurality of system options are provided by a plurality of third party solution providers (col. 5, lines 60-65), further include the steps of configuring the at least one computer system solution to indicate system specifications and a price (col. 6, lines 32-38). Jon does not disclose a computer system solution based on the usage trend as claimed but Malik discloses determining projected requirements for at least one computer system solution based on the usage trend for the computer (cols. 5-6, line 66 to line 3). It is well known that all computer system has configuration within and that user of the system is allowed to make modifications to the configuration whether it's the specifications or price.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the system solution based on the usage trend as taught by Malik into the system of Jong because it would improve the performance of the system by monitoring and allowing a user to view the amount of usage and the performance analysis for the computer system.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-46 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's arguments are moot in view of the newly added reference in Malik (US 6,618,370 B1).
